2022-IGAP-00020	03/24/2022	As per section § 5.8 Administrative appeals of your FOIA regulations, I am appealing the adequacy the OIG's search for responsive records. As per your regulations, a requester can appeal for three different reasons: the first reason is an adverse determination, the second type of appeal is if he or she questions the adequacy of the component's search for responsive records, the third type of appeal is a procedural deficiency. Since I have not received a response after since 10/6/2020 I am questioning the OIG search for these records. If an adequate search was conducted, providing records on complaints from these five organizations would not take 534 days to search and find these documents.	Other Reasons - Request Withdrawn

2022-IGFO-00121	02/23/2022	This involved several components of DHS, including ICE and USCG. For this reason it is being directed to the OIG for distribution as appropriate. This FOI request relates to the payment to contractors and to subcontractors involved in the process of conducting background investigations for pre-employment, security clearances, or investigations into positions impacting the national security. Those include agencies such as CACI, KROLL, CSRA, ADC and others who may no longer provide services to the government. DHS maintains contracts with several contractors who provide services of conducting background investigations into persons applying for positions that impact the national security of the United States. Included in those contracts are provisions requiring or mandating that subcontract personnel must participate in initial, periodic, and recurring training to ensure knowledge and awareness of various security and protective procedures for information developed during those investigations. This training also reinforces security requirements of those investigations. Examples of this training include (but not limited to): DHS Background Investigations, DHS Records Management, DHS Introduction and Transition Training, Industrial Security Briefing, and others. 1. What training requirements are mandated or required of contractors and are the contractors paid or reimbursed for the time involved which may not be directly involved in the physical process of conducting of background investigations? 2. What are the contractual requirements requiring subcontractors to provide initial, periodic or recurring training? 3. What are the contract provisions for paying subcontractors for training required on a periodic, recurring, or primary basis? I am requesting all documents or parts thereof that address those questions (1 & 2 & 3), above. Please advise me of any fees involved. (Date Range for Record Search: From 01/01/2011 To 02/23/2022)
